Fantastic remakesBy Samuel-Louis Bandy, Jr.Rod Sterling would be proud as the entire cast flows with the spirit of his original shows in these new productions.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Some classic stories...By rini723With 20 CDs, this audio book is sure to keep you entertained for many hours. It has many stories that are abridgments of classic films (the Philadelphia Story, Pride of the Yankees, Wizard of Oz) and others that I had never heard of (Angels with Dirty Faces). I really enjoyed 80% of the stories, and the other 20% just weren't my type of story, but others would probably like them. For example, I don't like westerns and 2 of the CDs are John Wayne stories. Overall it was a fun blast from the past and I would recommend it to others.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Thanks Radio SpiritsBy MRadio Spirits has consistently put out these old radio classic broadcasts to the public with nice packaging - booklets and fine sound quality. This set is no exception. Highly recommended.

During the 1930s and '40s, Hollywood's biggest stars performed on radio. What was the first seen as the chance to promote an upcoming film quickly became a rite of passage - every major star wanted to make his or her mark on the airwaves. The first series to present these radio adaptations was The Lux Radio Theatre, hosted in its heyday by Cecil B. DeMille. Similiar programs, such as The Screen Guild Player and The Screen Directors' Playhouse soon followed abnd listeners tuned in by the millions to hear 30 and 60 minute adaptations of their favorite movies.
