I bought it from Arizona and had it shipped there to my mom's for my trip home over the road back home to South Carolina for something to listen to while in those long dead air Zones between there and home again. Just what I wanted. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Knitting Geek I love these old radio shows! Fun to listen to and have some great twists!!! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four Stars By Jane Delo I love Inner Sanctum Mysteries, Its a fun way to spend an evening!

[Hosted by Raymond Edward Johnson] -- [Performed by A Full Cast] Enter the Inner Sanctum for twelve chilling tales from Hollywood 360. Taking its name from a popular series of mystery novels, Inner Sanctum Mysteries debuted over NBC's Blue Network in January 1941. It featured one of the most memorable and atmospheric openings in radio history: an organist hit a dissonant chord, a doorknob turned, and the famous "creaking door" slowly began to open. Every week, Inner Sanctum Mysteries told stories of ghosts, murderers, and lunatics. Produced in New York, the cast usually consisted of veteran radio actors, with occasional guest appearances by such Hollywood stars Boris Karloff, Peter Lorre, and Claude Rains. What made Inner Sanctum Mysteries unique among radio horror shows was its host, a slightly sinister sounding fellow originally known as "Raymond." The host had a droll sense of humor and an appetite for ghoulish puns, and his influence can be seen among horror hosts everywhere, from the Crypt-Keeper to Elvira. Raymond Edward Johnson was the show's host until 1945; Paul McGrath took over as host until the show left the air in 1952. Producer Hiram Brown would utilize the creaking door again in the 1970s, when he produced and directed The CBS Radio Mystery Theater. Episodes included are: The Voice on the Wire, starring Lesley Woods -- Trapped on an island, a voice on the telephone warns a woman that she has only four hours to live. Originally aired November 29, 1944. Desert Death, starring Horace Braham -- Two men driving across the desert pick up three hitchhikers who turn out to be escaped Nazi prisoners. Originally aired January 9, 1945. Death Is an Artist, starring Lee Bowman -- Four dead cats and a man are found in an apartment -- all with their throats slit or their heads cut off. Originally aired January 23, 1945. Death in the Depths, starring Santos Ortega -- A deep-sea diver meets some old friends down in a shipwreck. Originally aired February 6, 1945. No Coffin for the Dead, starring Les Tremayne -- Who killed Peter Frame? The killer may be an insane person who is unable to walk. Originally aired February 20, 1945. The Bog Oak Necklace, starring Miriam Hopkins -- The discovery of a necklace around a skeleton is the key to a forty-year-old murder. Originally aired April 10, 1945. The Black Art, starring Simone Simone -- A murderer about to be hanged is rescued by a woman with strange powers. Originally aired May 15, 1945. Dead to Rights, starring Elspeth Eric -- An inept couple murders for profit and then flees when the net closes in on them. Originally aired May 22, 1945. Death across the Board, starring Raymond Massey -- A murdering madman is battling the police as a chess game -- with dead bodies galore! Originally aired June 5, 1945. Portrait of Death, starring Lesley Woods -- A cursed painting invariably kills its owner. Originally aired June 12, 1945. Dead Man's Deal, starring Larry Haines -- A poker game has murder as the stakes. Originally aired August 28, 1945. The Murder Prophet, starring Wendy Barrie -- Who killed Claudia's first husband . . . and her second . . . and the man who loved her? Originally aired September 4, 1945.
