Her son, her then boyfriend (now husband), myself and another great friend sat around one day playing "Mad Libs" with her 11 year old son. We all could not stop laughing at how funny people think. As a gag wedding gift my husband suggested I go on line to see if they had "Adult Mad Libs". They did! We bought five different titles, this was one of them. Hilarious fun, not raunchy but funny. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Bachelorette Party Success! By olson Bought this for the 1.5 hour road trip to our Bachelorette Party destination...it was a blast for a group of girls (age 25ish) in the car! The more "adult" you are in your word choices, the better this game gets! Highly recommended! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. FUN By M. Loprieno I used this in the limo between stops at a bachelorette party. It was just really funny. I think the bride may have saved some.

Verify that you've found a "winner" and spend the night with the girls comparing whose got the better man. Makes a perfect gift for the special bachelorette in your life.

About the Author Roger Price and Leonard Stern created Mad Libs in the 1950s and the series has been a favorite among kids of all ages ever since. Although Roger Price passed away in 1990, Leonard Stern keeps the tradition alive by writing new Mad Libs all the time. Roger Price and Leonard Stern are both well known for their comedy writing. In the 1950s Roger Price created and developed cartoons called Doodles, which were turned into a television show. Before that Price worked with Bob Hope on a newspaper humor column, and he even appeared on Broadway in Tickets, Please! Leonard Stern has an equally colorful and varied history. Before co-founding Price Stern Sloan with Roger Price (Sloan came later), Stern was a successful television writer. In addition to his creative involvement with over twenty television series and over ten motion pictures, Stern worked with Jackie Gleason in New York writing the Honeymooners. He also wrote for the Phil Silvers Show, The Steve Allen Show, and wrote and produced the original Get Smart television series. Recently, Stern published A Martian Wouldn't Say That, which compiled weird and wacky memos written by people in the entertainment industry. Currently, Stern serves as a senior vice president of Price Stern Sloan, where he still writes those hilarious Mad Libs. copyright 2000 by Penguin Putnam Books for Young Readers. All rights reserved.
