Keith Kinder, Michael Saffle : Prophetic Trumpets: Homage, Worship, and Celebration in the Wind Band Music of Franz Liszt and Richard Wagner (Franz Liszt Studies Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Prophetic Trumpets: Homage, Worship, and Celebration in the Wind Band Music of Franz Liszt and Richard Wagner (Franz Liszt Studies Series):

Franz Liszt's and Richard Wagner's works for wind instruments and wind ensembles of various kinds, as well as for winds and voices in various combinations, epitomize much of nineteenth-century musical romanticism. From ceremonial and religious works to compositions for court occasions, from the concert hall to the operatic stage, Wagner's and Liszt's wind and wind-voice music offers insights into each composers stylistic evolution as well as the emergence of the symphonic poem and music-drama as genres in their own right.
